

Mother of Kerala woman who went to Afghanistan to join ISIS asks govt to bring her back

Thiruvananthapuram KBindu, a native of Thiruvananthapuram and the mother of Nimisha Fathima, has urged the Indian government to bring her daughter and four-year-old grandchild back from Afghanistan. This comes days after the Taliban took control of Afghanistan and the Ashraf Ghani-led government collapsed.Nimisha Fathima, along with three other women, had left Kerala allegedly to join the Islamic State (IS) militant group a few years ago. All four women were then imprisoned in Afghanistan in 2019.It is now being speculated that the four women from Kerala are stranded in Kabul after a Taliban jailbreak freed them from prison. The jailbreak took place after the Taliban took control of Afghanistan's capital city, Kabul, on Sunday.Nimisha Fathima's mother K Bindu stated that she has received confirmation that her daughter and granddaughter are among those who were freed after the jailbreak.

K Bindu is now requesting the central government to intervene and expedite efforts to bring her daughter and granddaughter back to India as the "Taliban no longer wants them there".Nimisha Fathima left India and initially arrived in Iran when she allegedly joined ISIS. Later, she moved to Afghanistan.

Her husband was killed in US airstrikes on ISIS bases. As a result of the US-led attacks, 408 people, including women and children, had surrendered to the Afghan government in 2019. After this, the Afghan government asked India to repatriate her and the three other women from Kerala. Her mother has been seeking the same but the central government has, as of now, not taken any decision on this.

Ganga flows over NH-31 in Patna as floods continue to ravage Bihar

Bakhtiyarpur The flood situation in Bihar continues to remain grim as the water levels of Ganga went over National Highway 31, connecting Bakhtiyarpur and Mokama in rural Patna.The flood condition in Athmalgola block of Patna district has further deteriorated over the past two days as the Ganga water levels continued to rise and entered more areas in the region.For the past two days, floodwaters of Ganga have been flowing over NH-31, disrupting traffic movement on this route.

Thousands of people have been displaced in Athmalgola block as flood water entered several villages, forcing people to take shelter on roads and bridges, on Monday visited the Sabmina village in Athmalgola block and found that the Ganga was flowing over the national highway and vehicles were wading through the floodwater.The floodwater has also entered shops and houses on both sides of NH-31. Ramnagar riverine is one of the worst affected areas in Athmalgola block as the entire village has been inundated for the past 15 days."Over the last 3-4 days, flood water of Ganga has started to flow over NH-31 and is causing an immense problem for the locals. The local administration has still not stopped regular movement on this route. The entire area is submerged underwater," said a local.

However, the local administration has been trying to stop the spread of floodwater to new areas by putting sandbags at various points.
